Enter 0 if the facility does not have discrete housing units. DOJ PREA Working Group FAQ on the definition of a housing unit: How is a "housing unit" defined for the purposes of the PREA Standards? The question has been raised in particular as it relates to facilities that have adjacent or interconnected units. The most common concept of a housing unit is architectural. The generally agreed-upon definition is a space that is enclosed by physical barriers accessed through one or more doors of various types, including commercial-grade swing doors, steel sliding doors, interlocking sally port doors, etc. In addition to the primary entrance and exit, additional doors are often included to meet life safety codes. The unit contains sleeping space, sanitary facilities (including toilets, lavatories, and showers), and a dayroom or leisure space in differing configurations. Many facilities are designed with modules or pods clustered around a control room. This multiple-pod design provides the facility with certain staff efficiencies and economies of scale. At the same time, the design affords the flexibility to separately house inmates of differing security levels, or who are grouped by some other operational or service scheme. Generally, the control room is enclosed by security glass, and in some cases, this allows inmates to see into neighboring pods. However, observation from one unit to another is usually limited by angled site lines. In some cases, the facility has prevented this entirely by installing one-way glass. Both the architectural design and functional use of these multiple pods indicate that they are managed as distinct housing units.		5

Audit Findings

Audit Narrative (including Audit Methodology)

The auditor's description of the audit methodology should include a detailed description of the following processes during the pre-onsite audit, onsite audit, and post-audit phases: documents and files reviewed, discussions and types of interviews conducted, number of days spent on-site, observations made during the site-review, and a detailed description of any follow-up work conducted during the post-audit phase. The narrative should describe the techniques the auditor used to sample documentation and select interviewees, and the auditor's process for the site review.

The audit initiation process for the B.B. "Sixty" Rayburn Correctional Facility began during 2019 with contact from the facility regarding recertification of the facility, with an intended on-site audit date during June and/or July of 2020. The intended audit date ensured that the facility was compliant with the audit timeframe requirements set forth within the standards of three-year audit cycles. Certified PREA auditor Emilee Watts was contracted to complete the audit and initial pre-audit documentation was obtained and frequent contact between the facility and auditor was maintained. Due to the initial onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, the audit was rescheduled for August 3-5, 2020. With the worsening of conditions in regard to the global pandemic both within the general public and within correctional settings nationwide, the on-site portion of the audit was postponed until it was deemed safe for all audit participants (to include inmates, staff, and auditor) to participate in the in-person audit activities. Communication with Secretary LeBlanc is maintained regarding state-wide COVID statics and safety measures put in place. During this time, the facility kept in frequent contact with the auditor and provided ongoing communication in regard to the continued processes of the PREA program. After it was deemed appropriate for non-essential staff to enter correctional settings the audit was rescheduled for June 7, 2021. Facility documentation, including the Pre-Audit Questionnaire, facility policies, files, facility schematic, etc. were reviewed prior to arriving at the facility.

Prior to the audit date, the facility received the official audit notification posting for display within the facility. The audit notification was posted for inmate view within the facility on April 8, 2021. Time and date stamped photographs were received from the facility, documenting the audit posting within various areas of the facility. Electronic files of documentation were reviewed prior to arriving at the facility.

During the on-site portion of the audit, upon arriving at the facility, a brief opening meeting was held with the Administration of Rayburn and the auditor, which was followed by the facility tour of all areas of inmate access. During the tour, the auditor spoke with random staff and inmates. Following the tour, the auditor reviewed various files, (to include investigative files, Human Resources files, training files, inmate classification files, and medical files). Formal interviews with staff were conducted with staff and inmates by both random selection and completion of targeted positions and populations. An interview was also conducted with an offender who wrote to the auditor prior to arrival. The facility does not house youthful offenders, therefore no youthful offenders were interviewed. Reviews of housing layouts and camera and staff placement were also reviewed. The PREA Compliance Manager and other staff were consistently available to answer questions regarding operations and explain facility procedures in the event questions arose.

Following the on-site portion of the audit, information was compiled and reviewed for the determination of compliance with each standard. Frequent contact with the facility was maintained to address any questions or concerns regarding facility processes, procedures, and policies. It is noted that throughout this report the terms offender and inmate are both utilized, with both referring to the population housed at the Rayburn facility.

Facility Characteristics

The auditor's description of the audited facility should include details about the facility type, demographics and size of the inmate, resident or detainee population, numbers and type of staff positions, configuration and layout of the facility, numbers of housing units, description of housing units including any special housing units, a description of programs and services, including food service and recreation. The auditor should describe how these details are relevant to PREA implementation and compliance.

The Rayburn Correctional Center (RRC) houses Louisiana Department of Public Safety and Corrections offenders. Located in Angie, LA, the facility has a maximum capacity of 1,376, but housed 1,170 offenders on the first day of the on-site portion of the audit. The RRC property consists of 1,025 acres, with 45 acres within the secure area of the facility. Facility housing is arranged into four general population housing units and one segregation unit. The housing units are identified as Sun, Wind, Rain, Snow, and Sleet Units. The setup and arrangement of the housing areas assist in the observation abilities of staff. On the day of the audit, the facility was staffed with a total of 274 full-time staff members and 10 part-time staff members, working on a rotating Team A and B schedule. Staff placement was well distributed and posted staff were visible throughout the facility, as well as roving staff located throughout.

Offenders have various opportunities for work throughout the facility and on work crews. Much of the daily maintenance and care of the facility and services are provided through offender labor. Education and programming opportunities are available to the population through a wide variety of offerings. With the wide array of work, education, and programming opportunities, the facility takes a positive approach at limiting offender idle time and promoting a positive and supportive environment.

array of work, education, and programming opportunities, the facility takes a positive approach at limiting offender idle time and promoting a positive and supportive environment.
While reviewing the facility, it was evident that the staff at the facility take a proactive approach and is committed to upholding the standards set forth within the PREA program. The facility leadership are pertinent to the success of the program and the support of each team member is visible within the facility.

Summary of Audit Findings

The summary should include the number and list of standards exceeded, number of standards met, and number and list of standards not met.

- -Facility Directives
- -Agency Organizational Chart
- -Facility Organizational Chart
- -Assistant Warden Position Description
- -Appointment Letter
- -Agency Appointment Letter

Following documentation review, staff and inmate interview, and review of the agency and facility practice, it was determined that the facility has a comprehensive policy outlining zero tolerance of sexual abuse and/or harassment. The facility policy is structured to address preventing, detecting, and responding to any and all forms of sexual abuse.

Specific staff have been designated by both the agency and the facility to oversee all efforts of PREA compliance. Staff are knowledgeable of their duties and are found to have appropriate authority and time to oversee this important program. Additionally, during interview, it was evident that all staff are aware of the parties overseeing the program and would feel comfortable approaching these staff members to address, clarify, or review any questions regarding the agency and facility programs supporting sexual abuse/harassment.

The facility utilizes a comprehensive, established, staffing plan that is prepared based on facility security needs. The location of each post is reviewed with consideration of other posts, blind spots, camera placement, and inmate access. Annually, the facility conducts a review of the staffing plan to ensure all considerations are made and to determine warranted changes. Consideration is given for changes in areas of any previous incident and multiple staff members are involved in this review. In addition to posts that are stationary, staff make roving rounds within the housing units and inmate access areas. Roving rounds are documented in the area logbook. When the facility has the opportunity to add cameras, the location of each is considered in relation to previous incidents, staff post areas, and blind spots.

During the facility tour, interview, and through policy review, it was evidenced that the facility refrains from conducting cross-gender strip searches and body cavity searches. Although it had not occurred during the review period, staff were knowledgeable regarding the documenting of cross-gender strip searches in the event that they occur. The facility has taken proactive steps to provide inmates the ability to shower, perform bodily function and change clothing without nonmedical staff of the opposite gender viewing their breasts, buttocks, or genitalia. Dividers are provided in the restroom areas obscuring the view of male residents toileting from the view of female staff members. During the facility tour, announcements were made to the male inmates regarding the incoming female visitors and they were provided time to cover or dress appropriately. It was evident that this is common practice from the reaction of inmates and staff during the tour. It was additionally verified through inmate interviews that announcements of opposite-gender staff entering areas in which an inmate may be disrobed are common practice. Staff were aware of the prohibition of physically examining transgender staff for the sole purpose of determining sex. Staff were able to verbalize the pat search method to be used when searching opposite gender or transgender inmates.

Agency policy addresses all requirements within the standard regarding the PREA provisions for inmates with disabilities and who are limited English proficient. Rayburn provides all inmates an equal opportunity to the benefits of the facility's effort to protect inmates from sexual abuse/assault. The facility maintains provisions for a contracted interpreter for non-English speaking inmates. Additionally, through the agency, the facility has access to the Lingualinx Telephone system providing live interpreters for various languages. Although the facility rarely receives inmates who are non-English speaking, staff were aware of the steps to be taken to access available resources to ensure appropriate communication. In the event an inmate may have a cognitive delay that could limit their ability to read and/or understand the provisions of the sexual safety program, staff provide direct support and assistance. Staff were aware of specific inmates who may have a cognitive disorder that may affect understanding and verbalized the steps taken to ensure all are aware of the resources available, and how to gain assistance any time needed. It was noted that staff take special actions to explain policy and rules to these individuals. Upon interview with inmates within the category of having a disability or limited English proficiency, it was evident that staff take special care in ensuring services are available to this population.

Documentation reviewed for compliance determination:

- -Agency Policy 1-22
- -Facility Directive 3.5.5
- -Letter to Sheriff
- -Staff Interview

The facility maintains a uniform evidence protocol that is understood and verbalized by facility staff and investigators. During the interview, staff were familiar with the required procedure for collecting evidence and the location of supplies to do such in the event of a reported incident. Forensic medical examinations are performed at an offsite medical center if necessary. The local hospital will provide a SAFE/SANE or qualified medical practitioner to conduct sexual assault examinations. Victim advocates are offered and provided as necessary to inmates as warranted. The offering of a victim advocate is documented by the facility and signed by the inmate. Any individual serving as a victim advocate has qualifications and training appropriate for the role.

The local Sheriff's Office who is responsible for outside criminal investigations as necessary has been provided directives to ensure investigative standards are appropriate and in compliance with all PREA standards.

Agency policy, to which the Rayburn facility adheres, outlines the requirement of the referral of allegations of sexual abuse/assault/harassment to outside agencies with the legal authority to conduct criminal investigations and prosecution if necessary. The agency policy is available on the State of Louisiana website. The expectation of the outside agency conducting criminal investigations has been disseminated appropriately. Documentation reviewing during audit verified that incidents had been appropriately referred for outside investigation/prosecution and documentation maintained.

The Medical and Mental Health Care staff at Rayburn complete training regarding PREA upon hiring and annually. Additionally, these staff receive specialty training regarding how to detect and assess signs of sexual abuse and harassment, how to collect evidence, how to respond effectively and professionally, and how to report allegations or suspicions of sexual abuse and/or harassment. Upon interview with the Medical Department staff, it was evident that these staff had received appropriate training and retained the information necessary to appropriately respond. Training documentation was maintained for review and organized for easy access. Staff at Rayburn do not perform forensic examinations but were aware of the protocol to transport an inmate to a local outside medical center shall the need for examination arise.

- -Staff and Inmate Interviews

Immediately upon arriving at Rayburn, inmates are screened for their risk of being sexually abused or abusive using a prepared screening tool. The screening tool includes all provisions of standard 115.41. Through interviews with both staff and inmates, it was established that screenings are performed immediately upon arriving at the facility, again within 30 days, following an allegation of a sexual abuse incident, and at various times if staff feel the need is warranted if there are concerns about an inmates behavior, programming, and or housing moves due to a specific reason. Staff were educated on the information contained within the screening tool and were able to explain the screening form thoroughly. Inmates were familiar with the questions in the screening and it was evident that each inmate receives a screening and information is used to appropriately provide services, appropriate housing, programs, and ensure the safety and security of the inmate. Reassessments are conducted frequently by staff upon the required instances and also if staff feel that there may be a concern with the inmate from being familiar with their normal routines and actions. It was noted that inmates were informed that they would not be disciplined for not answering questions. The information contained within the screening forms is maintained securely and only disseminated to staff that has a specific role in the inmate's case and custody and is protected from the access of other inmates. The auditor notes that the facility carefully and purposefully uses the information in the multiple screenings to provide a safe, secure, and supportive environment for the inmates entrusted in their care.

As each inmate is immediately screened upon arriving at the Rayburn facility. The staff utilize the information gathered to provide for appropriate housing, programming, work, and placement. A colorcoded system is utilized to designate the risk level of each inmate by assigning the designation of a point to each indicator on the screening form. This color-coded system provides a visual indicator for staff of precautions to be taken by staff when organizing housing, work, education, programs, and recreation assignments. The information obtained by the screening process assists in identifying inmates with risks of being a potential victim or predator of sexual abuse and/or assault/harassment. Through interviews with staff and review of documentation, it was evident that the information obtained in the screening process is utilized in conjunction with information obtained from historical records, and observations by staff members to make determinations about the inmate as an individual. The screening tool provides for areas in which additional information can be added if provided by the inmate. Although the color-coded ranking system is utilized, each determination is made on a casebycase basis. All inmates received at Rayburn are designated by the Louisiana Department of Corrections. The agency makes individualized determinations regarding the type of facility in which the inmate is placed. Transgender inmates are reviewed at least twice per year by staff to assess their safety, their own views of safety, the option to shower separately, their view of housing safety, and other needs. These reviews are documented and maintained for review or reference as needed. Housing assignments are made on a case-by-case basis and there are no designated locations in which a specific group of inmates is housed outside of programming specifics.

The Rayburn facility provides the offender/inmate population with multiple methods to report an allegation of sexual abuse/assault/harassment. Upon arrival at the facility, inmates are provided an inmate handbook and additional printed documents related to the sexual safety program. Handouts are provided indicating methods of reporting and also include phone numbers for use in reporting. As verified during the facility tour placards are located throughout the facility listing phone numbers that may be dialed to make a report of misconduct. During interviews, many indicated the specific phone number that may be dialed as it is present throughout the facility and may be accessed by the inmate telephone system. Contact information for LAFSA and Crime Stoppers was present within the facility and easily seen. Inmates were aware of reporting procedures and the methods that they could take in the event that they had a report, through phone, written notification, telling any staff member, or having someone else report on their behalf. Inmates were aware that they could contact any of the outside agencies as well as report to any staff member and aware that third-party and anonymous reports could be made. The population indicated that they would have no concern with reporting directly to a staff member as they felt that their concerns would be taken seriously and responded to immediately. Many inmates indicated that they frequently have the opportunity to approach higher-level staff during rounds within the housing areas, and would feel comfortable reporting if needed. Staff was aware of methods that could be used for reporting in the event necessary but the majority indicated that they would feel comfortable going directly to a higher level staff member as they were consistently approachable and accessible. All staff interviewed was aware that they could receive reports from any inmate and have the responsibility to immediately report and enact the PREA response protocol.

All staff are provided with information in regard to the facility and agency rules and regulations upon hiring. The facility and agency provide appropriate disciplinary sanctions for violating agency sexual abuse and harassment policies. During interview with facility staff it was evident that staff receive training regarding disciplinary actions and violation of facility and agency rules and regulations. Termination is the presumptive action in response to a violation of these policies but does not prevent the agency from completing an investigation and appropriately referring to an outside law enforcement agency. Any staff member that is terminated due to violating these policies who is a part of licensing bodies will be appropriately reported. Staff responsible for these duties were aware of the actions to be taken
